TIME

SAVE SHIFTS by replacing inefficient chalk and string or templates with laser precision.

Reduce anchor layout time by up to 75% with BrandTech® Precision Layout. This patent-pending system is the first and only laser layout system for refractory anchors. Why waste hours or shifts preparing to weld? Once you have located just two reference points, the BrandTech Precision Layout system can do the rest.

Laser Precision – At Work For You®

2 Tools, 1 Precise Solution

With BrandTech Precision Layout, simply locate just two reference points and start welding. Easily make adjustments by moving the device nearer or farther from the surface. Gun mount or static mount options offer flexibility and convenience.

Gun Mount

The gun-mount option can be attached to the BrandTech Precision Welding gun and is ideal for reaching tight spaces and complex welds, such as Fluid Catalytic Cracking Units (FCCU), cyclones and standpipes. Laser precision makes it easy to fine-tune increments to adjust to any layout of close-range welds.

Static Mount

The standalone static mount unit can lay out square grids of any standard or custom layouts. Operators can easily change the distance between points simply by moving the laser system closer or farther from the surface. Position the Precision Layout tool using a tripod, magnet, or clamp it to an existing scaffold legs – or let our engineers design a custom clamping system especially for you.

BrandTech Precision Layout pays for itself through savings in time and increased productivity. Made in the U.S.A.
